

PART ONE

Test

Now when I start the rainbow line flashes on, I thought the first time it came on slowly...might be wrong.

Loved Bleak House – is it the whole book?
Eke out worked ok.

I can't tell you how long I played Ballout before I realized that I wasn't a highly skilled playeroh yes I can...

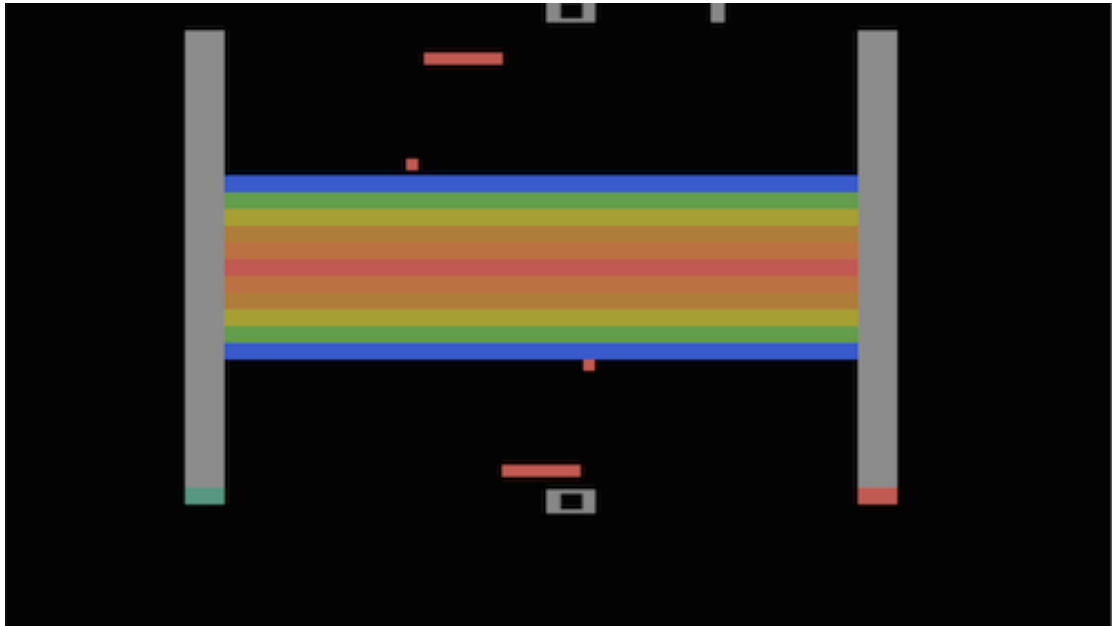

...and even longer to find out that the keys were controlling the 'ball' and after all that I / we didn't get to remove all the bricks before the game ended.

Pongout froze on me a couple of times, all I could do was leave the browser. Last time it only worked for one hit, is that the idea? Feels like it is stuck.

Blackout: score 9 oh, oh.

Blinkout is cool, like the way it attacks both sides. Took me a while to get used to it.

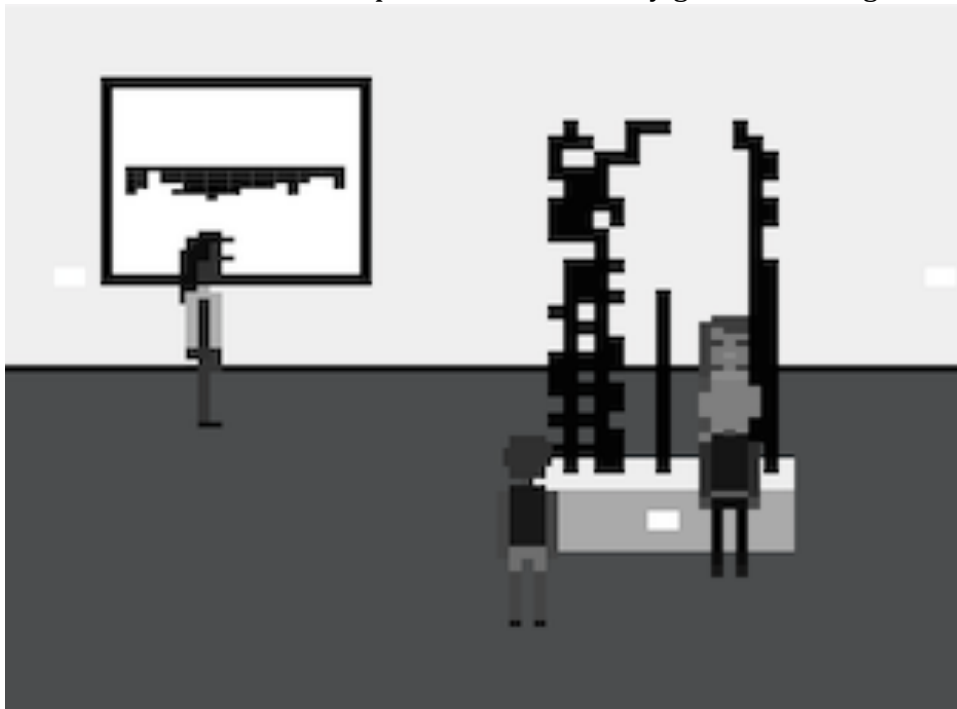

As far as it went after one hit. On another time it did one hit and reverted to the menu.

Report part II

Break in: couldn't get to sell anything for anything

Liked Break invaders but didn't get a very high score

Break art. Got to a score of 75 by developing my small stagger technique with the bat. At a couple of goes the paddle turned into a worm!!! Couldn't quite work out how to control it before it hit something and stopped or vanished off the bottom of the screen. A couple of times when my game ended I got this...

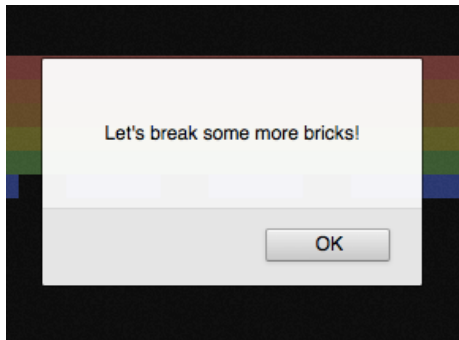

WTF?

Breakout-2P. Considering it took me half the game to work out how to play it I think my first score of 66 to 89 was pretty damn good. I aced the other guy on the second time round. Love it when you push the other paddle back and they vibrate with the struggle.

Breakout of life: Beautiful, loved it. The pinball effect is terrific. It could be a game on its own.

Breakout VR: the ball falling behind the VR mask makes things a bit hard but I am getting better. My score was hidden behind the mask so don't know how well I did. Can the two slices of white on either side be blacked or is it determined by the screen size?

Breaktime: Thought this was pretty funny. Maybe you could play a little longer after the first break. Got a laugh from this...

Test part III

Brokenout: very drole

Eoubreakout: I played this game 12 times and never got to find out what it said. OK I did find out it was something about a new nation and possibly going forth... go on...you know you want to tell me...

Ekeout: That's very, very funny, but no thanks

Fakeout: is diabolical. One of the best ones.

(in passing) I'm a nervous wreck

Freakout: the first time and one other I didn't get a paddle but guess that's all part of the freak out experience.

Ghostbreakout: was it something helping me that was the ghost? Creepy.

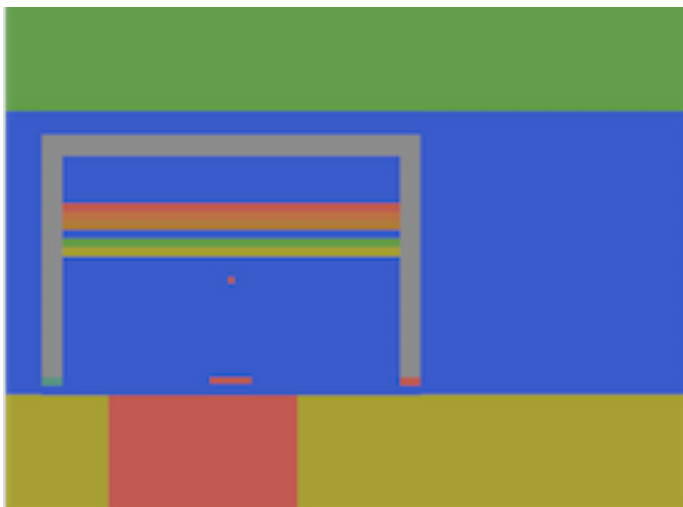

Koutbrea: Jees, as if it isn't hard enough already

Makeout: beautiful. Liked this one a lot

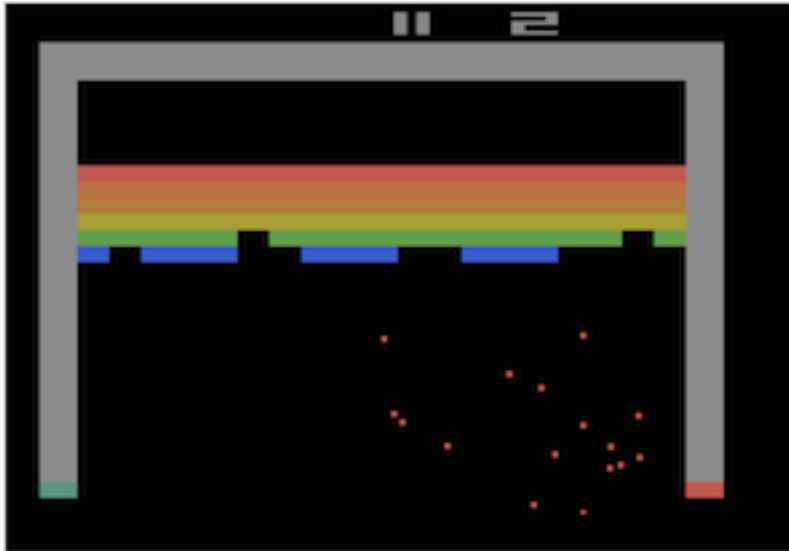

Outbreak: Another very nice one. In one game I was nearly finished and my paddle and the ball didn't have anywhere to move and it just flashed on and off. Scored 79

Pongout: funny but hard to play.... But you know that already Recursive breakout: Once I figured I could just leave things alone and it would play itself things calmed down. What an amazing effect. The screen grab just can't do it justice...must be art..

Screenshakeout: thought the paddle exploding was sensational, and surprising.

Seriousbreakout: I was this serious 380. Nice one.

Shitbreakout: can I take it that my ball got bogged down?

Snakeout is impossible for someone with my skills. I was pleased the few times I actually managed to hit the ball at all. Could it be played?

Socialbreakout: I played this 10 times but couldn't finish at all. Does something happen in the end?

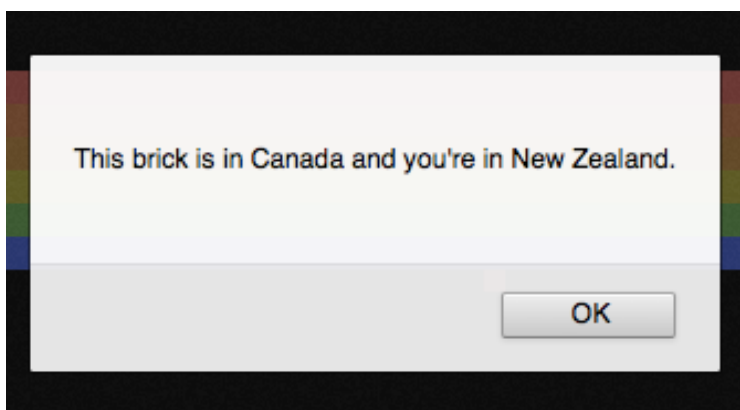

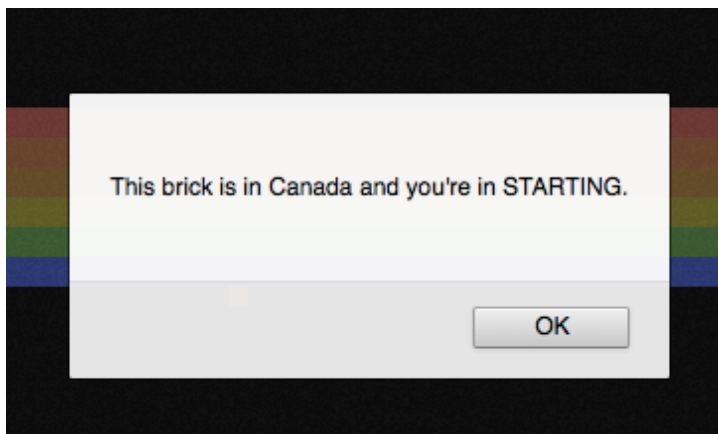

Spaceout: Wow that is a tough game. So many of these could be great games all on their own and that is one of them. Brilliant.

Traceout: One of my favourites. Love it. Looks fantastic and a great thing as the screen fills up trying to locate the ball.

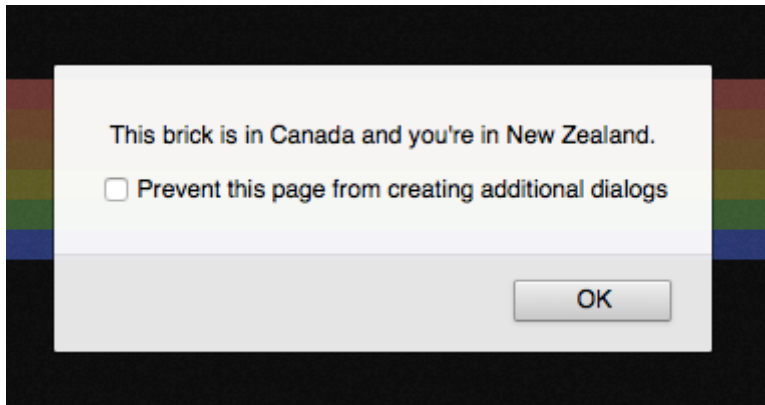

Tragicbreakout: Awww I watched my little brick's soul go on its way up to heaven. Cute...very cute. Love it.

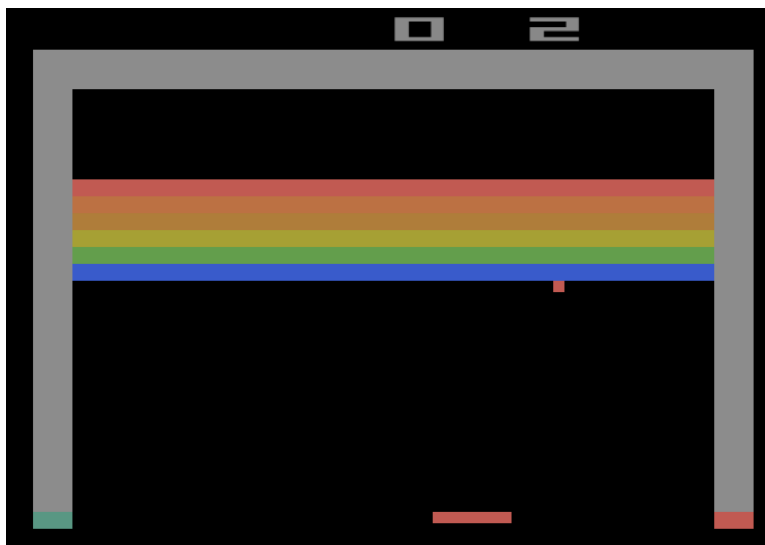

Travelbreakout: think there is a problem. Thought the request for location was great...

and on the second go got the NZ location in.
Then it kept requesting location until a sign came up asking to stop.

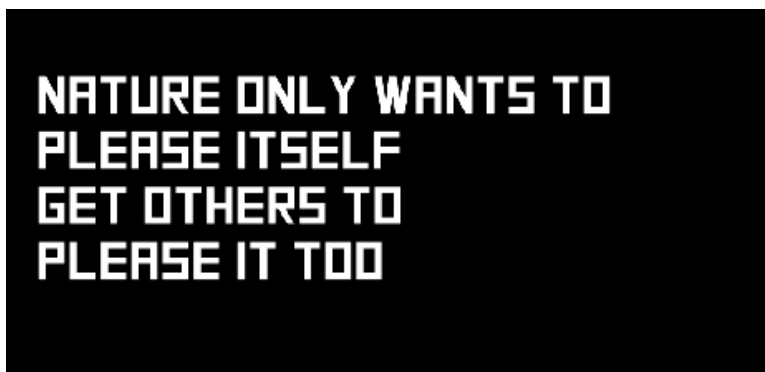

When I ticked the box and said ok the game froze after hitting the ball.

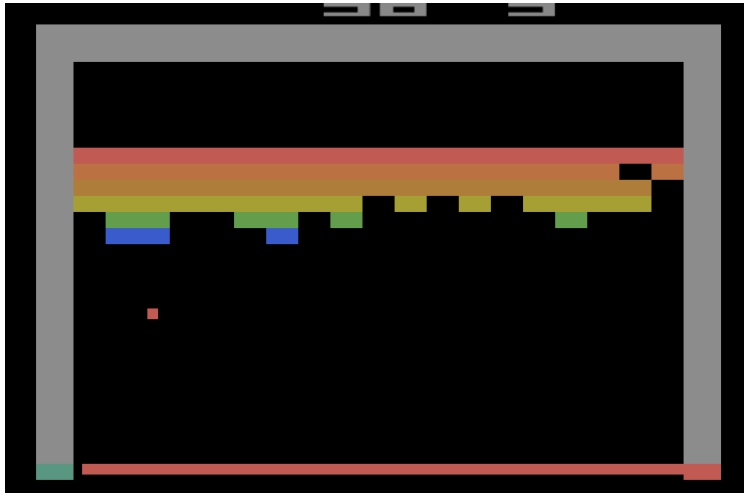

Actually it froze the whole browser screen.

Treeoflifebreakout: I was so busy playing I never got to read what the nuns taught us. Having said that I was pleased to find out that...

Unfairbreakout: well, you see for me that is totally fair and, I might say, the only way I get to finish a game.

How about that it got a brick out in the middle of a row!

And a nice Michelangelo moment and after waiting for it to get every brick, which it did eventually, it started another game! And how did the other side get 5 points may I ask?

And now, the last one...

Zenosbreakout: oh for God's sake!

OK, are we talking Mormon Zenos? I guess not...the Zenos paradox huh! So very, very Pippin Barr. Congratulations.

Wonderful, the whole thing.

J